

brazilianpoliticalsciencereview

Volume 3 Number 2 2009

Contributors

Denise Lopes Salles

Denise Lopes Salles is Ph.D. student in Political Science at IUPERJ and Assistant Professor at the Universidade Católica de Petrópolis. She has published “Participación política y apoyo a la democracia en América Latina” (LAPOP’S webpage, 2008) and, with Argelina Cheibub Figueiredo and Marcelo Vieira, “Presidencialismo de coalizão na América Latina” (Insight Inteligência, March 2010). Her research interests are: political culture, confidence in the institutions and political participation. She is finishing her Ph.D. dissertation analyzing the determinants of political participation in Latin America using survey and institutional data.